UHealth – University of Miami Health System and the Miller School of Medicine

UHealth – University of Miami Health System is a network with more than 1,200 physicians practicing in 500 medical, surgical and sub-specialty clinics. UHealth doctors are recognized by their patients and local physicians as among the best in South Florida. More than 400 UHealth/Miller physicians are listed as "best doctors" in national rankings.

The groundbreaking research produced at the University of Miami's Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine distinguishes UHealth as the only university-based medical center in South Florida. Founded in 1952 as Florida's first medical school, the Miller School is home to one of the brightest minds in medicine.

The Miller School ranks in the top third among U.S. medical schools in research funding received, with UHealth/Miller School physicians and scientists currently pursuing more than 3,600 projects with $274 million in annual grants and contracts. Many of these studies have led to clinical trials that directly change medical care—among more than 250,000 surgical procedures each year. UHealth/Miller has been recognized as one of the premier providers of eye care in the world. As the largest center of ophthalmic care, research and education in the country, Bascom Palmer Eye Institute is home to more than 270,000 patient visits and more than 12,000 surgical procedures each year.
